

Am I disappointed, I would ask the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. GRAHAM], in the outcome tonight? To be sure, I am. I thought we were going to do much better. As a matter of fact I am an incurable optimist, and I thought if we could ever get this item up for a vote, the pressure of the American people alone would cause us to vote for it.

This is only round one in what will probably be a 15-round fight. I am reminded again when I think of the people of the immortal poem of Carl Sandburg. He wrote the poem "The People, Yes." He said "The people will live on. The learning and blundering people will live on. They will be tricked and sold, and again sold, and return to the nourishing earth for root holds. The people, so amazing in their resiliency, you can't laugh off their capacity to take it."

Well, the people have been tricked and the people have been sold, and the people will be tricked and sold again, but sooner or later, the people will prevail. The people of this country will stand loudly and strongly on the next election and they will say "We want people to go to Washington who will vote for term limits."

I believe and I predict that if we don't pass term limits yet in this session of the Congress, they will be passed in the 105th Congress, because I believe the Speaker was correct. It was not a hollow threat. I think he was only stating fact, that sooner or later the will of the people will prevail. As Sandburg said, "The People, Yes."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There being no designee of the majority leader, under the Speaker's announced policy of January 4, 1995, the gentlewoman from Georgia [Ms. MCKINNEY] is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.
